During the summer season, Asia University (AU) is home to the international students from around the world. AU's Summer Program provides a great opportunity to prepare you for that all-important next step--both academically and socially--paving the way for a successful college life. By balancing academic studies with a rich menu of educational and social activities, you will have a superb learning experience that is truly transformative.

About the Program

Students from around the world are invited to spend two weeks learning at AU. If accepted to the program, you will have the opportunity to learn at one of the most popular programs offered by the College of Medical and Health Sciences. Through this program, you will expand the knowledge and skills in aging-related topics such as lifestyle redesign, nutrition education, and mental health promotion.

The Program Features

During your two weeks of intensive study, you will attend class for six hours a day. A group of buddies, made of AU students, will be assigned to assist you throughout your whole study, giving you the perfect chance to explore AU. As an International student, you will enjoy a broad range of experience to balance your academic and spiritual development. By offering you well-conceived challenges -- together with support and encouragement in our exceptional program -- you will develop self-confidence and a desire to achieve excellence throughout your life.

Asia University (AU) is proud to have partnerships with universities all over the world and provide educational opportunities for international students to engage in overseas experience. During the summer season, AU offers a unique opportunity for international students to visit the campus and to take specially designed courses. Being able to meet other students from around the world while learning about mental health and wellness from AU's renowned professors is a superb experience – both academically and socially.

About the Program

This two-week intensive program discusses the topics of mental health and wellness, providing theoretical knowledge that has immediate real-life practical applications. Each of the instructors from the Department of Psychology has integrated and applied their specific field of expertise to mental health and wellness, giving students' insights about this topic from multiple psychological perspectives, including positive psychology, social psychology, health psychology, and hedonic psychology. After taking this course, you will not only have gained a better understanding of mental health and wellness theoretically, but you will also have the opportunity to apply what you learned to your own life. This knowledge can help improve your own psychological well-being as well as provide a foundation for further studies in psychology.

The Program Features

During your two weeks of intensive study, you will attend class for six hours a day and participate in in-class discussions with international students from around the world. During these discussions, you will be able to share your perspective as well as learn about the perspectives and experiences of other students from other countries while applying the knowledge learned in class. Additionally, you will have the opportunity to learn from instructors from both the US and Taiwan.

Asia University (AU), one of the world's best institutions of higher education, puts great efforts in the development of academic research, teaching and other affairs in the past decade, and has achieved many great accomplishments. The College of Nursing builds up its strength in three specialty areas: the International nursing program, the clinical care program, and the aging long-term care program. Our 2023 in-person and online summer program is designed for students of AU partner universities overseas who want to deepen their understanding in interdisciplinary global health issues. So, come to enhance your career competence and give yourself an opportunity to meet and interact with international students around the global.

About the Program

This program provides an overview of current global health challenges drawing on the insights of several nursing specialties, including Global health in the post-Covid-19 era, racism and health, community health nursing, nursing workforce, long-term care, addictive behaviors, mental health, hospice nursing, and complementary alternative nursing. You will learn how to address worldwide health challenges. The academic curriculum builds upon current issues and future trends to help students understand the underlying forces, which lead to health disparities worldwide, such as coronavirus control strategy works in various countries, or long-term care develops in the world. After completing the courses, you may go on to graduate school or professional programs in nursing studies, clinical nursing, long-term care, and nursing administration.

The Program Features

During these two-week of intensive study, you will attend classes for six to seven hours a day. The learning activities includes lectures and participate in in-class / group project discussions with different professors and international students. A group of professors from several countries will share their different nursing philosophy to let you know each nation's health management systems. The topics of this program are very diverse and international. If you make enough efforts in this program, you will make a difference to your future life.

Artificial intelligence (AI) that can learn, reason, plan, perceive, or process natural language will take advantage of business risk management and raise up to predicting behavior reaction accurately. Applications based on AI are already visible in business administration management, finance, information accounting, leisure and recreations. This program is a customized summer program designed in particular for students of overseas partner universities. The program is very helpful to students who are eager to develop knowledge and skills of AI application in management.

About the Program

AI application in management can enhance various facets of effectively managing a business. The program can provide you with a variety of professional courses. You will learn, for example, AI modeling and simulation techniques with R language and Python, classification, survival prediction, number recognition, big data analysis, credit and lending, payments, investment analytics. After completing this program, you'll gain tools in improving from customer services to finding business patterns, effective data management, analytics, decision-making effectiveness, cross-cultural awareness and develop the ability to reach beyond the organization for insights.

The Program Features

AI application in management will likely play a more significant role in the way that companies operate as the software continues to advance and moves towards the forefront of the industry. AI application in management can work more efficiently through these features and complete them more quickly and effectively. This is achieved by analyzing big data to obtain a better understanding of their behaviors and preferences. For example, trading investors currently see new financial service using different types of AI application for lender and borrower through Fintech on websites. These have become enormously helpful as they lead traders to the correct credit and lending markets. With our teachers' engaging and inspiring instruction, students can benefit from these teachings. Through a series of training lessons, your AI knowledge and skills in management will enable you to use big data and then to do decision analysis through real-time and up-to-date data gathering, forecasting, and trends.

During the summer season, Asia University (AU) is home to international students from around the world. AU's Summer Program provides a great opportunity to prepare you for that all- important next step--both academically and socially--paving the way for a successful college life. By balancing academic studies with a rich menu of educational and social activities, you will have a learning experience that is truly transformative.

About the Program

This program is funded by the Ministry of Education, Taiwan and the targeted participants are government officials, elementary school teachers and teachers in pre-schools/ kindergartens from Indonesia. The participants' in-question are invited to spend two weeks of online learning with Asia University. After joining the program, you will have the opportunity to learn at one of the most popular programs offered by the Department of Early Childhood Education, College of Humanities and Social Sciences. Through this program, you will expand the knowledge and skills in early childhood education and inclusive education in Taiwan.

The Program Features

During your two weeks of intensive study at AU, you will attend class online for six hours a day. A team of faculty members with different professional expertise will provide you a substantial course content, which includes the following five topics: health and early childhood education, early intervention, inclusive settings, technology used for children with special needs, and online site visit. This will be a perfect chance for you to explore the learning experience at AU. You will have opportunities to interact and discuss with classmates and professors via synchronous and asynchronous online meeting. The learning experiences can also bring you some inspirations for career and life in future.

Asia University (AU), one of the most beautiful campuses in Taiwan, provides you with a unique and diversified learning experience this summer. Our summer program: “Language and Culture” is designed to meet the needs of those who want to explore the richness and diversity of Taiwanese society and culture in combination with the acquisition of Mandarin Chinese, one of the world’s major languages. Courses cover a wide range of topics, such as Taiwanese food, folk life, festivals, etc. Three academic credits will be awarded by the University after the completion of the program. Students are expected to develop their cross-culture awareness and expand their international networking as well as their global perspectives.

About the Program

This 3-week program includes intensive Mandarin Chinese and Taiwan culture and society. The Mandarin Chinese class covers various topics: “Chinese for Daily Usage”, “Chinese for Travelling” , “Chinese for Social Life” , and “TOCFL (Test of Chinese as a Foreign Language) Preparation Our engaging language instructors will help you acquire some survival Mandarin Chinese and become familiar with various aspects of Taiwan culture and society.

The Program Features

In this program, you will attend class six hours a day. All of our Mandarin Chinese instructors are experienced in and passionate for teaching. A teaching assistant is assigned to each class to help students solve learning and technical problems to ensure maximum learning outcome. We also arrange 3 hours of tutorial per week.
